

Year 3 – Would I Thrive in the Stone Age?

KNOWLEDGE ORGANISER

Sticky Knowledge

Hunter gathers had to catch or find everything they wanted to eat.

Early people hunted to survive and to get food.

Palaeolithic means the earliest part of the Stone Age.

Mesolithic means the middle part of the Stone Age.

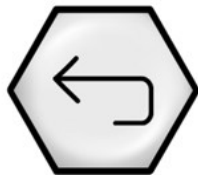

Neolithic means the later part of the Stone Age.

BC means "Before Christ" and shows something happened before Jesus was born.

BCE means "Before Common Era." It's another way of saying "Before Christ."

Skara Brae is in Scotland.

Skara Brae is one of the best preserved Neolithic villages in Western Europe.

Skara Brae has given us lots of information about Stone Age homes and farms.

Significant places::

Skara Brae – the best preserved neolithic settlement in western Europe.

Stone Henge – Located in Wiltshire, England, it is a stone circle that has been a focal point of human activity for thousands of years.

Significant people:

Cavemen lived during the Stone Age, primarily in the Paleolithic period, using stone tools and hunter-gatherer lifestyles.

Key vocabulary

Timeline		A visual and chronological tool that helps us understand history by placing events in order from earliest to latest.	Key revision vocabulary: BC BCE Hunting
Chronological		Arranging events in the order they happened, from earliest to latest, like on a timeline.
Palaeolithic		The period which extends from the earliest known use of stone tools by hominins.
Mesolithic		The "Middle Stone Age," was a time of transition after the Old Stone Age (Paleolithic) and before the New Stone Age (Neolithic).
Neolithic		A time when people stopped hunting and gathering and started to farm and domesticate animals.
Mammal		A warm-blooded animal that typically has hair or fur, breathes air, and feeds its young milk from special glands.
Survival		The state or fact of continuing to live or exist.

